The California Section fly fishes well between 80cfs and 300cfs, with hatches of Stoneflies, Mayflies, Caddis and Midges throughout the year. With an abundance of bait fish and crawdads, fish can reach over 20 inches in size. The Nevada side of the Truckee River generally flows at a higher rate and fly fishes best between 200cfs and 500cfs. The hatches are similar to the California section ...

I am a fly fishing guide in the Truckee area with a passion for the natural world. I grew up on the California coast, spending my youth exploring the hills and streams near Half Moon Bay in the small town of LaHonda. I started fly fishing around 11 on an annual pilgrimage to the eastern Sierras with my father and brothers and I haven't stopped fly fishing since. I am a contract fly designer ...

Exploring the many fly fishing options in the state of California involves breaking it into the northern and southern regions. Neither should be missed, and both offer fishing year-round depending on where you go. The fact that you can visit an urban city like Los Angeles and still find fly fishing just one hour out of the city speaks volumes about this state. Choose between freshwater and ...
